

Table of Contents

Foreword.....	7
Chapters abstracts.....	10
Section I. Data processing as a tool in safety.....	19
1. Serious Games Software to Facilitate Exercises on Flood Preparedness.....	20
2. What lies beneath? Statistical information systems and their use for injury prevention in six Baltic Sea States.....	32
3. Data Processed by the Decision Support System used in the State Fire Service of Poland.....	43
4. The Jelgava Model system for Emergency Data Analysis System.....	57
5. The implementation of IT processes in crisis situations. The analysis rescue systems databases in selected countries for the execution of the SECTOR project.....	65
6. Legal and practical aspects of society access to information relating to the possibility of major industrial accident.....	89
7. SECTOR'S Common Information Space for Partnership and Bridging in Response Phase.....	105
8. Accidents and injuries in the Nordic-Baltic region.....	121
9. Survey of possible data sources for data collection in the aftermath of small-scale disasters - a case study of cloud-bursts 2000 - 2012.....	129
10. Use of space applications for crisis management - findings of recent research in Poland.....	140
Section II. International actions in building the resilience in preparedness and response phases of crisis management.....	145
1. European civil protection response potential in floods.....	146
2. Accident and injury surveillance - a review of practical difficulties.....	169
3. Accident and injury surveillance - a review of theoretical frameworks.....	194
4. International Rescue Network in building Polish community resilience in response phase of people protection.....	201
5. Crossing borders and bridging sectors - How to establish inter-sectoral collaboration on public safety and security?.....	214
6. Aspects of leadership in building resilience in the local community in the context of security.....	218
7. Crisis management as an element in ensuring local security.....	233

8. Crisis management in the area of international cooperation.....	245
9. Points for discussion of the local security.....	258
10. Host Nation Support Concepts.....	273
11. Security education in Czechoslovakia (1918-1938) a historical reflection and current challenges in education.....	277
ANNEX.....	284